

October 2, 2008

Dear Friends and Families of St. Anne Catholic School,

“Let everything that has breath praise the Lord!” Psalm 150:6

It seems impossible that we are in October already. We are thankful that our ITBS tests are over and mailed off. Thank you to Mrs. Stone, Mrs. Blair, and all of our teachers for facilitating the tests. Back to regular schedules and class work. Soon we will be finishing our first quarter of school. It is hard to believe.

On Sunday, September 21, I was invited to attend an awards ceremony hosted by the CEAI or Christian Educators Association International. Normally this fine organization adopts a teacher to help, mentor, and assist over the school year. For the 2008/2009, they decided to adopt a school to work with and for, and fortunately, they selected St. Anne. What this means for us is that the members of our local organization will offer their time and talents to helping teachers, staff, students and administration in any way possible. We thank this wonderful organization for honoring us in this very special way. When you are in our foyer, please look in the class case by St. Anne to see the lovely glass award we received.

If you want to learn about Fire Safety be sure to ask our fifth graders. If you want to be an expert, just ask Mario Delgado in Mrs. Gagnon room. Mario won the first prize for SAS in the Rock Hill Fire Department Fire Safety Essay Contest. Mario and his family will attend a reception next week. Congratulations Mario!

Remember that October is Mary's month. Let us keep our heavenly mother in our thoughts and prayers. Please remember our St. Anne family in all of our prayers. Also, for all of you who have asked for the prayer that I said at the Open House meetings, check out our web site under the Parent Tab and you will find it.

I hope you all have a restful and relaxing weekend.

Blessings,
